Noticing the Good

YPS First-Ever Video Roundtable
for Middle Schoolers

In a groundbreaking event, students organized and hosted the first-ever video roundtable discussion aimed at inspiring and empowering Middle School students. They focused on education as a future career while promoting diversity within the profession.

With the help of Ms. DeJesus-Corporan, the roundtable provided valuable insights on the importance of fostering an inclusive environment in schools. Brisea Dida, Keisslianny Geneo and Erinda Rodriguex led the event and offered a platform for open dialogue, where middle schoolers could ask questions, share ideas, and explore how diversity can enrich classrooms and communities.

This innovative initiative is part of the Take a Look at Teaching Program, a partnership between YPS and the YFT which supports ongoing efforts to bridge the gap between students of different age groups while addressing critical topics in education. The roundtable discussion is expected to pave the way for future student-led events that empower the next generation of leaders.
