Noticing the Good

Student Led Teaching

Students enrolled in RHS's College Link Education Course taught financial literacy lessons to our fellow A-Team classmates. It was a highly effective and empowering experience for all.

Peer-to-peer teaching, reinforces the tutor's own understanding of essential financial concepts but also provides a relatable, supportive learning environment for their peers.

This approach emphasizes inclusivity, encouraging both social and cognitive growth, while fostering communication, empathy, and leadership skills. Through hands-on, interactive lessons on budgeting, saving, and making financial decisions, students gain practical knowledge while developing confidence in their abilities to teach and learn in a collaborative setting.

Roosevelt students continue to help build a sense of community and support, creating a more inclusive educational environment for all.
