Noticing the Good

Mr. Kryeziu's World History Students Explore Stalin's Propaganda Tactics

Mr. K's World History students took a deep dive into the rise of Joseph Stalin, his cult of personality, and the use of propaganda in his regime. To bring history to life, students created propaganda-style posters featuring Mr. K's likeness to promote classroom rules and expectations—mirroring the ways Stalin used imagery to reinforce his authority. Additionally, students wrote analytical essays exploring how Stalin manipulated propaganda to control public perception and maintain power. This engaging activity helped students understand the persuasive power of propaganda and its lasting impact on history.
