Eighth-grader Travis Pastrana earned extra credit in Ms. Isenberg's social studies class – and learned more about the City of Yonkers in the process – when he created a Yonkersopoly board, a Yonkers version of the classic Monopoly game. Travis said he spent a few days working on the board, which included well-known spots like Untermyer Park, Getty Square, Ridge Hill and Yonkers train stations. "There are places that I never knew existed!" Travis said. Bravo!

The YMS Builders Club is launching its Pennies for Patients drive during the month of March, collecting loose change that will benefit the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. The middle school classroom that collects the most money will win an Olive Garden pasta party! Let the competition begin!

Student Shout Out

Students Kevin Bronfield, Sleyder Valenzuela Soriano, Aylen Garcia and Ethan Borrero accompanied Mr. Bronfield up to Albany earlier in the month to rally for additional funding for Yonkers public schools. The students were able to speak to Yonkers representatives, Sen. Andrea Stewart-Cousins, Assemblyman J. Gary Pretlow and Assemblyman Nader Sayegh, who is a YMHS graduate.

Sports Highlights

MS Boys' Basketball

Yonkers Middle School 70
Patricia A. DiChiaro School 18

The YMS Bulldogs, above, mauled DiChiaro, 70-18, on Feb. 24, during the first game of intramural middle school competition. Coach Henry said the boys did well, displaying unselfish play by passing the ball around. The team will take on School 32, at home, at 3:30 pm, on March 2. Come cheer them on!
