

Session overview:

Yonkers Public Schools, the 4th largest district in NYS, was able to quickly pivot to hybrid learning that engaged both students and faculty through implementing interactive instructional technology, including Nearpod. The 39 schools within the district opened to students in the Fall of 2020 and Yonkers Public Schools has been a leader in professional learning during the pandemic.

In partnership with Yonkers Public Schools, Nearpod is hosting this session to demonstrate how to use instructional technology, such as Nearpod, to drive instruction in any and all learning environments.

By using Nearpod to create learning experiences with rich activities and interactive formative assessments, you can build authentic connections for all students and quickly adapt your instruction based on in-the-moment feedback and student responses.
