

MY INTERPRETATION OF A KEITH HARING PICTURE

There once was a man named Jose, who had three animals. He had two dogs, one much larger than the other, and a duck. The man loved his small dog, but fed it lots of food and treats, hoping it would grow big and long. One night before he went to sleep, he prayed for just that. The next day his wish came true, his dog was big and long but also HAD MANY LEGS. He was happy and went for a ride on his dog's strong back, letting his other dog and duck tag along. THAT, is happily ever after.
