Grade 2 Reading

Student At-Home Activity Packet 1

This At-Home Activity Packet includes two parts, Section 1 and Section 2, each with approximately 10 lessons in it. We recommend that your student complete one lesson each day.

Most lessons can be completed independently. However, there are some lessons that would benefit from the support of an adult. If there is not an adult available to help, don't worry! Just skip those lessons.

Encourage your student to do the best they can with this content. The most important thing is that they continue to work on their reading!

Use the questions/ prompts on the Discourse Card resource to start a conversation about something the student has read. You may talk about a text the student read in one of the lessons above, or anything else the student is reading.

Encourage daily reading. And remember, reading isn't just about the books on the shelves—it's about anything around you with letters! Turn on the closed captioning feature on your TV or read catalogs that come in the mail. The backs of cereal boxes work, too, as do directions to board games!

Running out of stuff to read? Grab some sticky notes, and label household objects, or make up new, silly names for things! Communicating with sticky notes, instead of talking, is fun, too—start with a half hour and see if you can go all afternoon. Reading is everywhere!

Don't worry about right/wrong answers when you talk about text—the important thing is that you and your student share a reading experience and have fun!

Word Learning Routine

Use the following steps to figure out unfamiliar words. If you figure out what the word means, continue reading. If not, then try the next step.

1. Say the Word or Phrase Aloud.

Circle the word or phrase that you find confusing. Read the sentence aloud.

2. Look Inside the Word or Phrase.

Look for familiar word parts, such as prefixes, suffixes, and root words. Try breaking the word into smaller parts. Can you figure out a meaning from the word parts you know?

3. Look Around the Word or Phrase.

Look for clues in the words or sentences around the word you don't know and the context of the paragraph or selection.

4. Look Beyond the Word or Phrase.

Look for the meaning of the word or phrase in a dictionary, glossary, or thesaurus.

5. Check the Meaning.

Ask yourself, "Does this meaning make sense in the sentence?"

Recounting Stories

Learning Target

Retelling stories will help you understand the order of events and how these events happen.

- Read Good storytellers take care to retell, or recount, the important events of the story in the order they happen. You can recount a story by telling the important events from the beginning, middle, and end.

Read this story. Think about what happens at the beginning, in the middle, and at the end.

How the Elephant Got Its Long Nose

A long time ago, elephants had short noses. But one day, a crocodile bit a young elephant on the nose.

The elephant tried to pull away. As he pulled and pulled, his nose got longer and longer.

When he pulled free, his nose was five feet long! He didn't like it at first. Then he found new things to do with his long nose. He reached into the trees to grab leaves to eat. Best of all, it was fun to take baths!

- Think Fill in the chart to tell the important story events in the order they happen.

- Talk Retell the story “How the Elephant Got Its Long Nose” to your partner. Use the events from your chart to help you.

The Lion and the Mouse

an Aesop fable

©QBS Learning

- 1 A long time ago, a mouse was looking for a good place to sleep. He climbed up onto what he thought was a small hill of warm, soft grass. He had really crawled up onto a sleeping lion!
- 2 The lion woke up and grabbed the mouse with a huge paw. Then he opened his mouth to eat him. The mouse said, “Forgive me! I didn’t mean to wake you. If you let me go, I’ll do something to help you someday.”
- 3 The lion laughed at the idea that the little mouse could ever help him. “What could a tiny thing like you ever do for me?” the lion said. But he let the mouse go.
- 4 The very next day, two hunters caught the lion. They tied the lion to a tree while they went to get a wagon.
- 5 The lion couldn’t move. Just then, the little mouse appeared. “Don’t worry, my friend,” he said. “I’ll help you!” The mouse gnawed at the ropes that held the lion. Soon, the lion broke free. He said to the mouse, “You were right, little one! Already you have helped me and have saved the King of the Beasts!”

Tools for Instruction

Retell Details and Events

When students retell text, they repeat orally what they remember after they read. To retell the text successfully, students must recall and organize the most important information in a logical sequence. However, students often struggle with identifying which information to omit. Retelling is useful during and after reading as a way to monitor comprehension. It also paves the way for summarizing, which is a closely related but more complex strategy. The activities below will build students' understanding of what constitutes a successful retelling.

Step by Step 30–45 minutes

1 Introduce retelling.

- Connect retelling informational text with retelling events in students' lives.
- Say, When you retell something that happened to you, you tell the most important events and details so someone else can understand what happened.
- Give students a prompt about their everyday lives, such as Retell what happened to you on a really good day.
- Then ask questions such as these, and have students jot down a few notes about their answers.

- What was your really good day?
- What were the most important things that happened on that day? Write three or four events.
- Write two details that tell more about each event.

- Have students review their notes. Then tell them that they will each have three minutes to tell a partner orally what happened on their really good day. Time each retelling.
- Come back together as a whole group. Invite a few volunteers to share retellings.
- Ask, Did you tell every single thing that happened? (no) What did you tell? (the most important things that happened)

2 Model retelling informational text.

- Explain how retelling informational text is similar to the previous exercise. Say, Readers can retell the most important events in informational text, just as they retell what happened on a very good day.
- Select a brief informational passage, and read it aloud.
- Think aloud as you determine which details to omit, and which to include in your retelling.

Abraham Lincoln didn't have very much education growing up, but he did like to read. I think this is an important detail because he was a president, so I want to find out how he learned. I see a list of the titles of books he liked to read, but those details are too specific for my retelling. They are interesting to know, but I will leave them out.

- Complete your retelling from start to finish.

3 Provide guided practice with retelling.

- Select an informational text with rich visuals—photographs, diagrams, maps, and so on. Read the text together.
- Make one-sided copies of the pictures, so that the back of each copy is blank.
- On the back of each copy, work with students to write short descriptions of what each picture shows. Then put the copies of the pictures aside.
- Show the cover of the book, and reread the title. Ask, What is this book about? Work with students to brainstorm a list of the important facts or ideas that the author wants to tell readers about the topic. Then work together to reduce the list to three or four facts or ideas.
- Bring out the copies of the pictures again. Refer back to your list of the most important facts or ideas. Work with students to eliminate some of the pictures.
- When you have reduced the pictures to those that show the most important ideas, put them in order. Say, Now we are going to retell the text, using these pictures. Have volunteers stand in a line, displaying each picture. Have them read the information on the back.

Connect to Writing Have students write their retelling of the informational text, using the picture cards that they created.

4 Provide independent practice with retelling.

- Provide repeated opportunities for students to practice retelling the important information in other informational texts.

Check for Understanding

If you observe...	Then try...
confusion about which details to omit	writing the main idea of the text, and then having students list the details they think are most important. Review each detail, and ask Is this detail directly related to [main idea]? If it is not, list it under the heading "Interesting Information." Gradually decrease the amount of support to allow students to engage in this thought process independently.

PECOS BILL

and the Mountain Lion

a tall tale of the Old West

- 1 Almost everybody knows about Pecos Bill. He was born in Texas a long time ago. He grew up with a pack of coyotes. He was one of the toughest cowboys in the West.
- 2 Pecos Bill had a horse named Flash. He treated Flash like his best friend. But Bill didn't just ride horses. He could ride anything that came along.
- 3 One day, Bill was riding Flash through the mountains. A giant mountain lion jumped out in front of them. The big cat growled and showed its sharp teeth. Bill jumped off Flash and sent him home so he was safe.
- 4 Was Bill scared? Of course not! He grabbed a rattlesnake and made it into a lasso. Then he threw the lasso over the mountain lion and pulled it in. The cat knew it was no match for big Bill, so it gave up. Quickly, Bill jumped onto its back. Then he rode the mountain lion all the way home.

©Mircea Catusanu

- 2 Then one night, the wolf found a sheep's fluffy, white fleece. The shepherd had forgotten it. "Aha!" cried the wolf. "I think this fleece might solve my problem."
- 3 With a tug and a pull, the wolf dressed himself in the fleece. Now he looked just like a sheep.

4 The wolf trotted into the meadow wearing the fleece.
He walked among the sheep. And this time, the shepherd didn't chase him away.

5 That very night, the wolf carried off a large sheep to have for his dinner.

6 The next day, the wolf wore the fleece again and strolled freely among the sheep. But this time, the shepherd did notice the wolf. He said to himself, "That looks like a fine sheep for my stew tonight."

7 Before the wolf could leap away, the shepherd grabbed him.
And that night, the shepherd enjoyed a delicious stew.

 Think Use what you learned by reading “The Wolf in Sheep’s Clothing” to respond to the following questions.

Now you know how to recount a story. Why is it important to tell the important events in order?

Read the two passages. Then answer the questions that follow them.

Cinderella

a Brothers Grimm fairy tale retold by Annika Pedersen

- 1 Cinderella missed her real mother. Her new stepmother made Cinderella work day and night. She cleaned and cooked, and cooked and cleaned, and cleaned some more. All the while, her two new stepsisters did nothing. At night, Cinderella slept in the cold ashes by the fireplace. The ashes and cinders made her face and clothes look dirty. That is how she came to be called “Cinderella.”
- 2 One day her father was going to town. His new wife and stepdaughters told him to bring back fine dresses and jewels. He asked Cinderella what he might get for her.
- 3 “Bring back the first branch that strikes your hat on the way home,” she said.
- 4 Her father found this strange. But he brought her what she had asked for.
- 5 Cinderella planted the branch on her mother’s grave. Then she cried and cried. Her many tears watered the twig. It grew at once into a beautiful hazel tree. A white bird sat in it. The bird told Cinderella it would grant any wish.
- 6 At that time, the king made plans for a great party. His son, the prince, would choose a bride at the party.

Go On

7 Cinderella wanted to go. But her stepmother and stepsisters just laughed at her. “You do not even have a nice dress or shoes!” they said.

8 Cinderella went to the hazel tree and made a wish. The white bird gave her a gold dress with gold slippers. Cinderella put them on and ran to the party.

9 No one knew her in her beautiful new dress. But the prince liked her so much, he would dance with no one else! And she liked him. As soon as the party ended, though, Cinderella ran away. But one of her gold slippers stuck to some mud and came off.

©Alexandra Petruk/Shutterstock

10 The next day, the prince and his men searched for the owner of the gold slipper. But the slipper did not fit anyone, not even the stepsisters. The prince sadly asked, “Is there no one else?” And the family said, “Only Cinderella.”

11 Her foot fit easily into the slipper. At last, the prince had found the lovely woman who had danced with him. So Cinderella would become his bride. As they rode to the castle, the white bird landed on Cinderella’s shoulder. At last, all her wishes were coming true.

The Turkey Girl

a Zuni folktale

- 1 Long ago, there lived a poor girl who herded turkeys for a living. Every morning, she drove them out to the fields. And every evening, she drove them back to the safety of their cages. She treated them with great kindness, and the turkeys loved her for this.
- 2 One day, the girl heard some people in town talking. They wanted to go to the Dance of the Sacred Bird. This great event happened only once a year. And it was to take place in just four days.
- 3 “Oh, how I wish I could go!” the girl said to the turkeys. “But I cannot go in such old, ugly clothes.”
- 4 The girl never once thought the turkeys could understand her. But on the day of the dance, one turkey stood tall and spoke. “Dear friend,” he said. “We will help you go to the dance. You shall laugh and be merry. You have earned some fun!”

© Wesley Gunn

Go On

5 At first, the girl was shocked. Then somehow it felt right that the turkeys—her only friends—should speak.

6 “We only ask that you come back before sunset,” said the turkey. “You are the one who keeps us safe.” The turkeys then danced around the girl. They turned her old, ragged clothes into a beautiful white dress.

7 The girl thanked the turkeys again and again. She promised them she would return before sunset. Then she turned and ran down the path toward town.

8 At the dance, no one knew the girl in her new dress. Everyone praised her beauty. And all the young men wanted to dance with her. She was having so much fun that she forgot all about her friends the turkeys.

9 Finally, the sun set. The turkeys wondered why the girl had not returned. “She has forgotten us,” one of them said. “For that reason, we will give her no more help! Come, let us move up into the hills. Our keeper is not as kind as we had once hoped.”

10 When at last the dance ended, the girl ran back to the fields. She looked for the turkeys everywhere. But they were gone. As she stood there, sad and alone, her dress turned back into rags. She was the poor turkey girl once more.

Describing How Characters Act

 Learning Target

Describing how characters in a story respond to important events and challenges will help you understand how and why they act the way they do.

- Read Characters are the people or animals in a story that face a challenge. A challenge is a problem that needs to be solved. Describing how characters respond to challenges will help you get to know them better.

Look at the picture. What is the challenge? How does each character respond? Think about why each boy acts that way.

► Think Complete the chart. Tell what the challenge is. Then tell how each character responds to it.

A Puppy for Oscar

by Jane Lawrence

- 1 Oscar wanted a puppy more than anything in the world. But his mom kept saying they could not have a dog in their apartment.
- 2 “We do not have a yard,” she said. “And a dog needs space to run.”
- 3 Oscar had an idea. There was a city park very close to their apartment. The park was really big. Maybe part of it could be turned into a park for dogs. Then Oscar’s puppy would have a place to run!
- 4 Now Oscar needed to turn his idea into a plan. Oscar worked very hard. He wrote letters to newspapers. He wrote to the mayor about his idea for a dog park. He talked to people about his idea. Then he got many of them to sign their names to a letter saying they wanted a dog park, too.
- 5 It took over a year, but Oscar finally got his dog park. And then he got what he really wanted—a new puppy!

Tools for Instruction

Understand Characters

Understanding characters is central to understanding a literary text. Students need to know why characters are in the story and how their words, actions, and choices affect the development of the plot. However, the leap from describing characters to making inferences about them can be challenging for students who may not think about characters as relatable people. To help students take this important step toward thinking critically about characters, teach them to use what characters say, do, and think as a bridge to inferring judgments about them.

Step by Step 20–30 minutes

1 Introduce and explain understanding characters.

- Ask, If you hear someone say “please” and “thank you,” and you see him share his toys with others, what is something you can tell about him? (He has good manners.)
- Say, Even if no one tells us that this boy has good manners, we can decide for ourselves that he does by thinking about what we see him say and do. This is also true for characters that we read about. Just like with people in real life, one of the ways we understand characters is by listening to what they say and watching what they do.
- Use familiar stories or films to illustrate this point. For example, say, In Beauty and the Beast, we see Belle offer to take her father’s place in the dungeon so that he can go free. We also hear her say that she loves him. These things tell us that Belle is a kind and loving person.
- Invite students to share additional observations about characters in the same story.

2 Teach and model understanding characters.

- Select an on-level read aloud such as The Fire Cat, by Esther Averill, and display Character Chart.
- Say, Good readers make sure they understand the characters they read about. As I read this story, I will stop from time to time to think about what certain characters say and do. This chart will help me organize my thoughts.
- As you read aloud, pause to think about what a character says or does, and model how to make an inference based on those details.

Pickles tries to slide down the pole like the firemen, but it’s not easy. When Pickles says, “Bumps or no bumps, I must try again,” it reminds me of how hard it can be to learn something new. But Pickles doesn’t give up! I think this shows that he is a determined cat. He wants to learn everything he can about living in the firehouse.

- Record the details on the character chart.

- Then think aloud about why it is important to understand this about the character. Say, It is important to know that Pickles doesn't give up. This information helps us understand that Pickles will do whatever it takes to become the Fire Cat, which is his main goal in the story.

3 Provide guided practice with understanding characters.

- Choose another character from the text, and select an event in which that character appears. Have students use the prompts in the chart to share their observations, and record them on the class chart.
- Guide students to make an inference about the character, based on their observations. Help them point to text or illustrations that support their observations.
- Then guide a brief discussion on how understanding the character in this way helps readers to better understand the story.
- Repeat for the remaining number of characters in the story.

Connect to Writing Distribute a copy of the character chart to each student. Have them complete the chart in their own words as you complete it with the group.

4 Provide independent practice with understanding characters.

- Have small groups of students practice understanding characters in a different story. Choose a story that is familiar, and provide the following questions to guide students in thinking about a character's words and actions. You might wish to assign one group member to be in charge of asking the question prompts.

Why do you think [character] did _____?
Why do you think [character] said _____?
If you were [character], how would you feel when _____ happened?
How would you describe [character] to someone who has not read this story? Why?

- Listen in on group discussions and provide support as needed.

Check for Understanding

If you observe...	Then try...
difficulty seeing characters, especially animals, as relatable people	taking a picture walk, using a story in which the characters are animals. Take turns with students pointing out details that make a character seem like a real person, such as wearing clothes or doing chores.
difficulty using details to support inferences about characters	rereading a passage and stating an inference based on a character's words or actions. Have the student point to details in the text that support the inference.

The Snowstorm

by Annika Pedersen

- 1 The wind blew hard, shaking the barn. Outside, the falling snow whipped this way and that. Inside, Greta and her mother counted the sheep they had just brought down from the mountain. One of the sheep was missing, but which one? They saw that Lizzie, one of the new lambs, had been left behind.
- 2 Greta and her mother started back up the mountain to look for her, but there wasn't much time. Already, they could hardly see a thing in the heavy, blowing snow. "Lizzie! Lizzie!" they called out.
- 3 At last, they heard her crying back baa-aa-aa! They had found Lizzie, but now they were lost. How would they find their way home? Their whole world had gone white!
- 4 Then Greta saw a stream nearby. The blinding snow was still melting in it! She and her mother could follow the stream's twisting dark line down the mountain. It would lead them back to the gate near their barn.
- 5 Greta held the little lamb tight. Soon, everyone would be safe at home.

Stone Soup

by Elsa Southern

1 A long time ago, a tired traveler walked into a small village. He was hungry and stopped at the first house he saw to ask for some food. He knocked, and a young woman holding a baby opened the door.

2 “Do you have a bit of food for a tired traveler?” the man asked. “I have been walking all day without a bite to eat.”

3 “I’m sorry, but I have barely enough food for my family,” the woman said.

4 When the other people in the village heard the man, they started shutting their doors. “Go away! We have only enough food for ourselves,” they shouted from behind their locked doors.

5 The traveler sat down in the town square and thought for a while. Then he had a wonderful idea. “I only ask for a pot and some water!” he shouted. He took three gray rocks out of his pocket. “With these special stones I will make a delicious stone soup.”

6 “Who has ever heard of stone soup?” the villagers laughed. But some of the people were curious. They brought the traveler a pot filled with water.

7 The traveler started a fire under the large pot of water. When it began to boil, he slowly added the three stones. After a while, he put his nose over the pot and breathed in. “Ah,” he said with a twinkle in his eye. “This is almost perfect. If only we had some onions.”

8 A villager quickly grabbed a bag of onions and passed it to the traveler, who added them to the pot.

9 “Oh!” sighed the traveler, breathing in again with his nose over the pot. “This is almost perfect! If only we had some potatoes.”

10 The villagers ran to their homes. They came back carrying not only potatoes, but carrots and peas and beans and corn. Everyone wanted to help.

11 Very soon there was enough delicious soup for everyone in the village! They all ate soup until they were no longer hungry.

12 Even today, people tell the story of how such a wonderful soup could be made from stones.

 - C He has to walk to another town where people might be kinder to him.
 - D He must find a new way to get people to share their food with him.

 - C to make the people angry that they won't get any soup
 - D to make the people sad that they didn't help him
- 4 What do you learn about the traveler from the way he faces his challenge?

SESSION 1

Read the story. Then answer the questions that follow it.

Too Much of a Good Thing

by Sybil Parrish

- 1 Zelda pressed the button on the spaceship's food maker. Normally, a food maker could make anything you wanted. All you had to do was say pizza, popcorn, or whatever and press a button. Then it would make whatever you had asked for instantly. But the food maker on the spaceship had been broken for days. Now it would only make ice cream. And the ship was still over a week away from her grandparents' planet.
- 2 “Yum! This is great,” said Zelda, grinning. She sat down at the table with a heaping bowl of chocolate ice cream.

3 “Well, I for one am getting tired of ice cream,” grumbled Zelda’s dad. “A bowl of soup would taste great about now!”

4 Zelda’s sister Anka piped up. “How can anyone get tired of ice cream? This is like a dream come true!”

5 Zelda’s dad sighed. “We wouldn’t even have this problem if we had lived two hundred years ago.”

6 “I know,” replied Zelda. “People used to fix their own food. They grew it or shopped at places called grocery stores. They never knew how great a broken food maker could be!”

7 But after two more days, even Zelda and her sister were tired of ice cream. Zelda just wanted something—anything—that wasn’t cold and sweet.

8 Suddenly, Zelda smiled and said, “I have an idea! Let’s fix some food for ourselves, like in the old days. We could ask to pick some vegetables from the ship’s garden. It might even be fun to make our own meal.”

9 “Make a meal? How will we know if we’re picking beans or beets or broccoli?” Anka blurted out, shaking her head. “And, and . . . just how do we fix a potato?”

10 “That’s easy!” laughed Zelda. “The ship’s computer can help us. C’mon, let’s get started!”

11 All the grown-ups thought the girls had a great idea, even the ship's captain. She'd had her fill of ice cream, too. "Just be sure to make me a big bowl of hot green beans. And add a side order of mashed potatoes!" the captain joked.

12 Zelda was so excited—they were going to be human food makers! She tried to remember the word once used for people who fixed meals. Then it came to her. They were called "cooks."
